From Selma to Montgomery
Brittany Horne, 5th Grade Teacher

While participating in the 2015-2016 BQN Teach-Ins, our fifth grade students created an art installation depicting the march that happened from Selma to the Montgomery State Capital. This march was a journey many people took in order for African Americans to gain voting rights. The students also researched groups of people whose present day rights have been denied. Our students wanted to convey a feeling of empathy for their viewing audiences. They then showed their journeys to freedom through the forms of photography, mural art work, hanging mobile gallery, shadow photo statuettes, tableau, negro spirituals, and paper cutting.
